TEXAS TOWNS ARE TORN BY TORNADO

Several People Killed and Half a Hundred Injured.

GREAT DAMAGE TO PROPERTY

Crops in the Path of the Storm Are Reported to Have Been Completely Uprooted—List of Those Killed and Injured.

Emory, Tex., May 28.—Sunday night it was possible to obtain a better idea of the damage done by Saturday's storm, which passed through Emory, snuffing out four lives and injuring and crippling many people, some of whom may die.

Those reported dead:

Walter Martin.

Unknown woman, aged about 35.

Eight-year-old son of J. F. Littlejohn.

Among the injured are the following white persons:

Mrs. Simmons, internally injured.

Miss Flessie Simmons, severe scalp injury.

Miss Della York, lower limbs injured.

Mrs. Frank Cooke, left shoulder injured.

Baby of Mrs. Cooke, 2 years old.

Mrs. Buckner Fitzgerald, wounded in head and lower limbs bruised.

Mrs. Walter Martin, severe injury to head and shoulder, also internal injuries.

A large number of negroes were hurt, it being estimated that thirty received wounds and bruises of greater or less severity.

A number of others were hurt, but their names or injuries cannot be gathered at this time. Several of them are in the country, and the wires are down.

The corn and cotton crops in the path of the storm were completely uprooted.

One Killed and Many Injured.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 28.—According to meager reports received Arbola and Tazewell, small villages in the interior of Hopkins county, were in the path of the tornado that devastated Wills Point and Emory Saturday evening.

At Arbola, the little daughter of Pink Kirk and a child of George Davis were fatally hurt, and two others whose names could not be learned, were slightly injured. Several residences were badly damaged.

At Tazewell a number of houses were blown away, but no one was hurt, the people having taken refuge in cellars.

No additional fatalities are reported from other points in the sweep of the tornado.

German Mission Destroyed.

Berlin, May 28.—According to dispatches received from Shanghai and Hong Kong, native rioters have destroyed the German mission station at Lienchow, near Pakhoi. The missionaries escaped. The German gunboat Iltis, reinforced by twenty marines from the Gunboat Tsing Tau, has left Hong Kong for Pakhoi and it is expected that a British gunboat will also be sent to that port.

Drowned Herself in Bathtub.

Colubus, O., May 28.—Edna Wilson, an actress, wife of G. M. Wilson, committed suicide Sunday at the Dryden hotel by drowning herself in a bathtub. The coroner was unable to disclose any motive for the suicide, but it was said that the woman had threatened to take her life. Wilson and his wife are said to have come from Pittsburg to play at Cientangy.

Bursting Dam Caused Floods.

Budapest, Hungary, May 28.—The bursting of the dams on the Danube river have caused disastrous floods in the neighborhood of Rudolsgnad. In Terontal country, 260 houses have collapsed. Troops have been succoring the distressed inhabitants.

COTTON ACREAGE DECREASED.

Reported that One Per Cent Less Cotton Planted Than Last Year.

Memphis, Tenn., May 28.—Reports from correspondents in all the cotton-producing states, with the exception of Florida and Virginia, show a decrease in the total acreage, as compared with last year, of six-tenths of 1 per cent.

That the crop is twenty days later than last year.

That replanting has been necessary in all states to a large extent.

That the general vitality and condition of the plant is low.

That cultivation is greatly delayed, because of the late start, and that in many sections planting is still in progress, where cultivation would ordinarily be the rule.

That stands as a whole are unsatisfactory.

That labor conditions are practically those of last year. The showing by the several states is as follows:

Mississippi, acreage, 93.5 per cent; replanted, 63 per cent; days late, 25.

Arkansas, acreage, 93.3; replanted, 50 per cent; days late, 23.

Alabama, acreage, 93.8; replanted, 57; days late, 24.

Georgia, acreage, 101; replanted, 32; days late, 14.

Texas, acreage, 104.6; replanted, 30; days late, 20.

Oklahoma and Indian Territory, careage, 111; replanted, 45; days late, 14.

Missouri, acreage, 96; replanted, 35; days late, 18.

North Carolina, acreage, 100; replanted, 25; days late, none.

Louisiana, acreage, 97.1; replanted, 49; days late, 27.

TO TURN TIDE SOUTHWARD.

Jacob H. Schiff Speaks of the Jewish Immigration.

New York, May 28.—Jacob H. Schiff, the principal speaker at the annual dinner of the Jewish Benevolent society B'Nai B'Rith, talked of turning the Jewish tide of immigration to the south and west, Mr. Schiff said that an increased immigration was coming to this country.

"Such an immigration," he said, "is forced into the north Atlantic cities. We should take time by the forelock and while we are welcoming the Jews to this country, we should turn the tide of immigration from the North Atlantic cities. There is a great American interland, in which there is not ten per cent of Jewish population. This great territory should accommodate many of the Jews now unhappy in north Atlantic towns. Lately a movement has been started for this purpose. We can see no greater work than to aid this cause, to make the immigrant welcome, not in the crowded cities, but in this region."

85,000 Get Wage Raise.

Boston, May 28.—The general upward movement in the wages of New England cotton mill operatives Monday affected about 85,000 operatives in Rhode Island, southeastern and western Massachusetts, Amesbury, Mass., Pownawale and other places in southern New England. The advance in the sections named amounts to about 10 per cent. Early next month it was expected an increase of 5 per cent will be given in many mills in other manufacturing districts. The cotton mills of New England employ upward of 200,000 hands when the machinery is fully manned.

Labor Troubles Multiplying.

Berlin, May 28.—Labor troubles are multiplying in Berlin. The bakers have decided to call a general strike May 29. Some of the bricklayers, who have been working on buildings where the lockout does not exist, have decided to strike for an eight-hour day.

Given Farewell Dinner.

Copenhagen, May 28.—King Frederick gave a farewell dinner Sunday night to the retiring American minister, Mr. O'Brien and Mrs. O'Brien having been appointed American ambassador at Tokio. The king expressed his personal regret at Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien's departure.

MRS. WM. M'KINLEY PASSES FROM EARTH

SHE PASSED AWAY PEACEFULLY

Dissolution Was So Peaceful that the Physicians Had Difficulty in Telling When Final End Came—Sketch of Her Life.

Canton, O., May 28.—At 1:05 p. m. Sunday afternoon, Mrs. McKinley fell into the sleep that knows no awakening. The transition from life to death was so peaceful and gradual that it was with difficulty that the vigilant physicians and attendants noted when dissolution came.

There was no struggle—no pain. Mrs. McKinley never knew of the efforts made for days to prolong her life, nor of the solicitous hope against hope of her sister and other relatives and friends for her recovery.

MRS. WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

Mrs. McKinley's last words were for death. An attendant said: "Mrs. McKinley would say, 'Why should I linger?' Please God, if it is Thy will, why defer it.' She would say also, 'He is gone now, and life is dark to me.' Other kindred expressions would also fall from her lips."

At the McKinley home when death came there were present Secretary Cortelyou, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Barber, Mrs. Sarah Duncan, Mrs. Luther Day, Justice and Mrs. William R. Day, Drs. Portmann and Rixey and the nurses.

"Mrs. McKinley lasted hours longer than we expected," said the secretary. "Her vitality was wonderful," said Dr. Portmann.

The funeral arrangements, so far as made, are that Dr. Buxton will have charge of the services, which are to be simple, and they will be held at the McKinley residence at 2 o'clock Wednesday. Secretary Cortelyou is directing the arrangements, and will remain here until after the funeral.

Sketch of Mrs. McKinley.

Ida Saxton McKinley was born in Canton, June 8, 1847. James A. Saxton, her father, was an intellectual and progressive business man and banker; his wife, a lady of extraordinary culture and refinement. Ida Saxton was reared in a home of comfort and ease. After attending Canton schools, she was a pupil at a private school at Delhi, N. Y. Later she went to a Cleveland academy and finished her education at Brook Hall seminary, Media, Pa., where she spent three years.

Part of the years of her young womanhood were spent in the Stark county bank, which belonged to her father. On several occasions she had charge of the institution.

While she taught Sunday school in the Presbyterian church, young lawyer, William McKinley, Jr., was superintendent of the First Methodist Episcopal Sunday school. Among many admirers and suitors, the handsome young soldier, who had been with Grant and Sheridan and won distinction in the Shenandoah Valley, was the favored one.

By James Saxton, her father, these words were spoken to McKinley, when the hand of the daughter was gained: "You are the only man I have ever known to whom I would intrust my daughter."

On January 25, 1871, William McKinley and Ida Saxton were united in marriage. The wedding was performed in the then new Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Buckingham, of that congregation, and Rev. Dr. Endsley, of the First Methodist church, officiated.

After an eastern trip, including Washington, and a short time of boarding, the McKinleys purchased the home on North Market street, which in later years became famous as the McKinley cottage. It was during their short sojourn in this home—hallowed to them by so many sorrows—that Mrs. McKinley's health broke down under the burden of grief that was theirs. Two children were born to them—two daughters—Katies on Christmas day, 1871, and Ida, on April 1, 1873. But the heart strings of the mother's tenderest love were broken when Ida passed away in August, 1873.

The first born lived for three and one-half years, to become enshrined in the affections of her devoted parents and she then passed from earth. Then it was that the almost broken-hearted wife became an invalid.

Her life as wife of William McKinley was a most happy and devoted one. They never "kept house" while he was in congress because of her invalid state. She, however, desired to be with him as much as possible, and spent much time in Washington.

On his campaign tours, while he was congressman, governor and president, she journeyed with him as far as practicable.

After Governor McKinley's term of office ended, they came to Canton in January, 1896, in time to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary in the first home of their early married life.

This wedding anniversary was the beginning of a year and two month's residence in Canton, during which time Mr. McKinley was nominated and elected president of the United States.

TRIED TO WRECK TRAIN.

Bold and Deliberate Attempt Made Near Gold Hill, Ala.

Columbus, Ga., May 28.—A bold and deliberate attempt was made Saturday near Gold Hill, Ala., to wreck a Central of Georgia railway passenger train that was enrout efrom Birmingham to Columbus.

Just as the train rounded a curve the engineer saw an obstruction on the track and he managed to stop the train in time to prevent a serious accident.

Two crossties had been placed across the rails, evidently with fiendish designs, for, a half mile further down the track was another tie found on the rails. The engine struck the first obstruction, but the train had almost stopped at the time, and the collision was not of such force as to cause derailment.

A negro was seen running through the woods when the train came to a stop, and it was supposed that he was the guilty party. He was pursued, but made his escape.

Storm in Alabama.

Montgomery, Ala., May 28.—All wire service in Montgomery was seriously impaired Sunday night and street railway traffic was suspended because of a wind storm, which began blowing early in the evening. The wind reached its highest point at 7 o'clock, when the velocity registered 40 miles an hour. Scores of electric poles were blown down in the western part of the city and that section was left in darkness for a time. The storm traveled off to the south, about midnight, but a heavy rain fell. All communication between Montgomery and points south was for a time entirely lost, but was again partfally restored and again lost. Reports from the city of Selma are that a high wind passed over west Alabama Sunday afternoon, carrying destruction of property before it. No casualties are reported.

Important Firm Fails.

London, May 28.—An important firms of stock jobbers, Huber Brunton & Co., announced their failure on the stock exchange Monday afternoon. The firm, which was established in 1874, dealt principally in copper shares, including American and Rio Tinto. Their failure tended to weaken the American market.

COMMISSION WILL TIGHTEN THE SCREWS

More Radical Policy In Treatment of Corporations.

CLEMENTS MAKES A STATEMENT

Says That the Most Wholesome Thing Would Be the Putting In Jail of Some Prominent Men Who Hold High Positions.

Chicago, May 28—A dispatch to the Tribune from Washington, says:

The interstate commerce commission has decided on a radical policy in the treatment of corporations which persist in violating the law. Possessed of authority to investigate every phase of railroad business and having the power to bring about the punishment of individuals as well as corporations the commission is pushing its work with determinaton. Commissioner Judson C. Clements of Georgia, who has had fifteen years' service, said:

"One of the most wholesome things that could happen would be the putting in jail of some men of prominence in the railroad world. It would do more than anything else to bring about better feeling. It would not be necessary to put in jail all the men who ought to be there. Just let one or two who hold high positions in the social and business world be put behind the bars. This would act as a powerful deterrent for men that would hesitate to jeopardize their positions and safety."

Questions of criminal proposition by the commission have been delegated to Franklin K. Lane, of California, one of the most energetic and conservative members. When Mr. Lane was asked:

"Are you going to send somebody in the railroad world to jail," he replied.

"I hope that will not be necessary. If the railroads comply with the law we will get on most harmoniously, but if the law is broken, they will have trouble."

"Do you intend to have Edward H. Harriman prosecuted?"

"That whole subject is under consideration by the commission. If Mr. Harriman has been guilty of any infraction of the act to regulate commerce, he will, as a matter of course, be prosecuted—not at all because he is Harriman, but because he is an offender against the law."

BODY FOUND IN A TRUNK.

Mysterious Murder of Armenian Priest At New York.

New York, May 28.—Up to an early hour Monday, though they had thoroughly scoured the Armenian part of the city, the police have failed to make any arrests in connection with the murder of the Armenian priest identified as "Father Kaspar, whose body, doubled up in a trunk, was found Sunday in a small apartment in the tenement at noon at 333 West Thirty-seventh street.

A motive for the crime has not been definitely established. At first it was thought that robbery was the prompting cause as a small silk bag which the priest was known to carry, tier about his neck, was found in the trunk, rifled of its contents. But later the fact developed that the man was poor. The investigation of the police revealed that the murder of the priest might have been due to the exposure a few months ago of an attempt to usurp the throne of Servia by a pretender who is now supposed to be in Jersey City.

Drunken Man's Crime.

Washington, May 27.—The coroner's jury in the case of W. S. Putnam, a farmer, formerly clerk in the war department, residing near Falls Church, Va., who, after he had shot and killed his housekeeper, Mrs. Emma Beavers, and made an attempt upon the life of her daughter, killed himself Friday night, has rendered a verdict of murder and suicide. Putnam claimed to be a direct descendant of General Israel Putnam, of revolutionary fame.

AUSPICIOUS CLOSING OF THE UNIVERSITY

AFTER A SEASON OF GRATIFYING SUCCESS

The second annual commencement exercises of the University of the State of Florida were held in the Tabernacle in Gainesville, on Tuesday morning, May 28, 1907.

The program was opened with prayer by Reverend F. H. Craighill of the Episcopal church. The Duval Orchestra of Jacksonville rendered some beautiful music, after which Mr. A. R. Nielsen, second honor man of the senior class, delivered the salutatory address. After paying a neat tribute to the city of Gainesville, and bidding the visitors welcome in a few well-chosen words, Mr. Nielsen proceeded to develop the theme of his address, which was "Agricultural Education." He traced the history of the development of agricultural education from its first beginning among the monks of the middle ages to the present great system of agricultural colleges in which are found in the United States alone more than 60,000 students, of whom more than nine thousand persue the strictly agricultural course. He showed the great economic value of the farmer to the nation, and proved that to become fully efficient under present economic conditions the farmer must have a college education along lines pertaining to his business. The agricultural college must see that the best blood from the farms is no longer taken to fill the ranks of the other professions and callings, but that it is trained to go back to the farms and make them produce more in order that they may meet the demands that are growing upon them. "Now is the time for young men to enter the agricultural college and train themselves that they may have that full command of broadly developed minds necessary to meet the demands of modern democracy."

Lr. Sledd's Address.

The baccalaureate address was delivered by Dr. Andrew Sledd, president of the University. Dr. Sledd chose for his subject "The Liberating Power of Education." The following notes show the trend of the discourse:

"Francis Bacon, in his treatise on 'The Advancement of Learning,' observes that idols are the deepest fallacies of the human mind. The idols to the worship of which the race is given Bacon treats under three heads: 'idols of the tribe,' meaning that group of common beliefs and practices to which men give themselves because of natural predisposition, habit, association or environment; the 'idols of the cave,' meaning the body of unthought opinions which, acquired by the accident of birth and surroundings, still constitute the so-called mental stock of so many people; and finally, 'the idols of the market place,' which are stock words and phrases, glibly used without a thought of their real meaning or value, or a question as to their accuracy or truth.

"The great function of education is to shatter the idols of tribe and cave and market place, and to lead men from the outward traditions of the tribe, from the cheap shallow chatter of the market place, from the shadows and unrealities of their idol-filled caves into the sunshine and the glory of the real and true.

"Culture is a certain by-product of the educational process, taken in its broadest sense; a kind of efflorescence of all educative experiences; the active, vital, originating life spirit behind all knowledge; a certain mental attitude to the world, and the expression of this attitude in character and conduct. If we seem to use 'education' as synonymous with 'culture,' it is on the basis of the definition of education, as not a mere receptive process, but a process of quickening and inspiration. It is a new birth, and all the power and the promise, the growth and glory of a new and boundless life. There is in man, though he may never have read a book or crossed the threshold of a school—there is in man, because he is man—a latent capacity for personal enlargement so great, and achievement so high, that imagination cannot compass it. Often, indeed, like the wheat in old Egyptian tombs, the mental and spirit life has been sealed up in cold and silent isolation. But education bursts the tomb of ignorance and lethargy and littleness and impotence, and brings forth the precious seed into the sunshine and the dew, and, lo! a hero, a saint, a power in life and death, and a heritage of glory for the race. This is education.

"That education has devoted itself nobly and magnanimously, and with great success, to the task of freeing man from his pathetic bondage to adverse physical conditions, no man will deny. It was only by the development of the brain of primitive man that he was able to cope with the great dangers and difficulties that surrounded him, and the very survival of the race and its progress, however slow and tragic, but finally triumphant, has been due and will be due, not to muscular superiority, but to bigger and better brains. The history of science, especially of medicine, has been largely the story of this conflict for the freeing of the race. Primitive man died under the scourge of unknown diseases. Medical science at last came to his rescue and freed him from a terror which he did not understand. Primitive man was limited by mountains and rivers and the narrow confines of his own small range. Science harnessed steam and yoked the lightning to her charriot, and brought to man the message that he should become a free inhabitant of a great free world. And steadily against adverse conditions, education has fought for freedom; has won its victories in the past; and will win its greater victories in the days to come.

"In its second and highest sense the liberating power of culture has to do with narrowness, bigotry, prejudice and pride. Here, too, education has done a mighty work for the cause of freedom, but a mighty work remains yet for it to do. For here it touches ourselves and our dearest prepossessions; and here, as in the past, we hesitate and stumble. Willingly or unwillingly we rocognize the plainer facts of history, but we refuse to learn their lesson, misinterpret them or set an arbitrary limit to their significance. It is here we encounter the misshapen and malicious 'idols of the cave,' which are the deepest fallacies of the human mind. Here has always been the bitterest fight for freedom, and here always the brightest victories of truth and knowledge. Victory is as inevitable as death, and these strongest, most cherished idols of the cave shall fall and be shattered before the truth and knowledge as Dagon before the ark of the Most High God.

"That despotism should give place to monarchy, and it in turn to at least a semblance of democracy, seems to us wise and right, for we are born under a democracy, and we are the people. But we forget the infinite toil and travail of the struggle, the bitter resistance of the hoary idols and the pitiful sacrifices of many martyrs before their overthrow. We say, 'If we had been in the days of our fathers we would not have been partakers of the blood of the prophets.' But we would. Good men of old believed in the divine right of kings and that a despotism and then a monarchy was the best and wisest, the God-ordained form of human government, just as we now believe that a democracy is the best form.

"But now that we live under a democracy we worship this idol to whose service we were born; and if a man tells us of change, he is a socialist and therefore dangerous, or an anarchist and therefore damned! On the contrary he may be that prophet for whom the ages wait, the forerunner of a brighter and a better day. And after his humiliation and rejection, his stoning the crucifixion, our children will 'build the tombs of the prophet and garnish the sepulchre of the righteous,' and wonder at our blindness and our folly! Oh foolish man! must it always be so? Shall we never recognize the prophet until he is dead?

"We view with equanimity the old time process of religious thought that years, bringing truth and knowledge, should strip earlier man of what we call his superstitions, seems to us now both proper and providential. But remember that he did not call them 'superstition;' they were sacred to him, the hallowed elements of his holy religion. And it is a proud and ruthless reading of history and human hearts to forget the travail and sorrow of the loss of nymph, oracle, druid, and god. As we look back we see that it was best; but then only the few leaders freed from bondage to their day and its prevailing temper, could see beyond their day, could join in shattering popular idols and commit themselves to the new order.

"As with paganism so with Judaism in its fall. Those who crucified the Christ, stoned Stephen, and persecuted Paul, were not all bad men. They were merely the blind adherents of the old order, and they took what means seemed necessary to preserve the existing order, and oppose the innovations. It has become the custom with us to regard them as peculiarly reprobate and blind. But that is because now we see the splendor that has accomplished Juda's fall. They saw only the impending ruin and the desolation, hence the sorrow and the bitterness! It was the world-old struggle between the old and the new—the world-old ever-new worship of the idols of the cave.

"All progress to our present state has been over many shattered idols, once held dear. If we inquire why progress has been so tragic, we shall find the reason in the blind worship by each man and age and race of its own idols of cave and tribe and market place, because the attitude and act of worship is both grounded in and tends to perpetuate mental modes which are essentially opposed to change. These established mental modes are commonly lethargy and fear, and a lack of humility or teachableness, and a lack of faith. Lethargy rules the mass of men, who eat and drink and therewith are content. Fear rules with even wider sway the minds of men, and many even who should be leaders in the march of progress look to the future big-eyed with some fear of change. Pride allies itself with fear to support the idols of the day, and oppose a progress from them to better things. Each age and race thinks its way the best, and its creed and practice the culmination of the ages. We are unteachable either by the lesson of history or the prophecy of hope. Considering our time and way the best, we are impatient of contradiction, and proudly repudiate the thought of betterment.

"Both fear and pride find their basis and their bulwark in the lack of faith—lack of that larger, vital, splendid faith in the dignity and the destiny of men and the goodness and the glory of his God. We bind men to small achievements; ye limit God in time and deeds. Called to the mountain tops, we dwell in valleys; called to the palaces of princes, we dwell in the hovel of the slave! And, alas, the tragedy of it! We

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

Sensible Advice to Women from Mrs. Henry Lee, Mrs. Fred Certia and Mrs. Pinkham.

MRS HENRY LEE MRS. FRED CERTIA

Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

This is the most critical period of her whole existence and every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition or she is predisposed to apoplexy or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active and with a host of nervous irritations make life a burden. At this time also cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, melancholia, dread of impending evil, palpitation of the heart, irregularities, constipation and dizziness are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when this great change may be expected.

Mrs. Fred Certia, 1014 So. Lafayette Street, So. Bend, Ind., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the ideal medicine for women who are passing through Change of Life. For several months I suffered from hot flashes, extreme nervousness, headache and sleeplessness. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I had made up my mind there was no help for me until I began to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, my bad symptoms ceased, and it brought me safely through the danger period, built up my system and I am in excellent health. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound unsurpassed for women during this trying period of life."

Mrs. Henry Lee, 60 Winter Street, New Haven, Conn., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"After suffering untold misery for three years during Change of Life I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I wrote you of my condition, and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and followed your advice, and to-day I am well and happy. I can now walk anywhere and work as well as anyone, and for years previous I had tried but could not get around without help. I consider your medicine a sovereign balm for suffering women."

Women passing through this critical period should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If there is anything about your case you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It is free and has guided thousands to health.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health, actually thousands of women, you cannot well say without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." It is your duty to yourself and family to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DRAINAGE BILL HAS PASSED BOTH HOUSES

Passage of Measure Shows Governor Broward's Strength.

THE INVESTIGATING COMMISSION

To Investigate Transactions of Internal Improvement Board from 1853 Up to Date—Passage of Child Labor Bill—Other Legislative Notes.

(Special Correspondence.)

Tallahassee May 27.—The closing week of the session finds the Legislature with a number of important bills in its hands, in addition to a great mass of undigested matter, the greater part of which must necessarily be left on the calendar when next Friday night the gavel falls for the last time.

Mr. Crane's drainage bill has passed both houses, and by majorities that clearly indicated Governor Broward's strength. The State insurance bill came up in the Senate early in the week, and while it is not likely to pass, Senator Trammell will, no doubt, put up a strong fight for what is one of the Governor's pet measures. The chief objection to this bill arises from the fear that it may be the means of foisting on the State a political machine, something in the order of the South Carolina dispensary arrangement, which that State, by the way, has recently abolished.

The passage of the Massey bill taxing the railroads $10 a mile regardless of their financial condition, was something of a surprise, as the Senate had already voted down two franchise tax bills. The passage of this bill will be strongly contested in the House, but the general opinion is that it will go through all right, in which case Mr. Matthews of Marion will hardly push his franchise tax bill.

The immigration bill has not yet passed, and so little time now remains that it may be lost sight of in the haste and confusion of the closing hours of the session.

As for the good roads question, that has been replied to in the negative by the House, which at a recent night session put no less than six bills on the subject to sleep.

The Tampa fair bill has not yet passed, but as the Tampa delegation here is a strong one, it will probably prove successful. It is generally believed that a deal has been made between the Tampa fair people and the Pinellas county promoters by which the latter are to support the fair appropriation bill, while, on the other hand, the friends of that bill will consent to the division of Hillsboro county. There is, therefore, but little doubt that both bills will eventually pass.

Governor Broward's veto of the Jacksonville charter amendment bill introduced by Mr. Farris of Duval has given rise to considerable bad feeling, but it is difficult to see how the Governor could have done otherwise, under the circumstances. At the time the House refused to pass the bill over the veto, Mr. Farris announced his intention of introducing another bill on the same subject; but Mr. Melton of Duval assures your correspondent that this will not be done. According to Uncle Steve, the Governor will sign no bill providing for the popular election of the Jacksonvill bond trustees, and the same gentleman is also firm in his conviction that the veto was in reality written in Jacksonville.

The Senate has managed to pass the revenue bill, and the House will, no doubt, rush it through at the last minute. The bill increasing the salaries of the cabinet officers has been knocked out in the Senate, although, as a matter of fact, these officials get little enough. However economical the Senate may have been in this direction, it has certainly spent any amount of money in other ways, and it is going to be a question of making both ends meet in this State for the next few years.

The final passage of the child labor bill reflects great credit on Mr. S. J. Triplett of Jacksonville, who represents the labor unions here. The bill was so amended as to make the age limit 12 years. The bureau of labor bill has been amended by the Senate, making the bureau "an adjunct of the Department of Agriculture," and the "Commissioner" merely a clerk.

The bill providing for a commission to investigate the Internal Improvement Fund from 1853 up to date, has been passed, and will be composed as follows: On the part of the Senate, Senators Buckman, West and Humphries. On the part of the House, Messrs. Knight of Columbia, Reese, Carter, Griggs and Watson. The bill carries a $5,000 appropriation for expenses, and it is generally conceded that an extra session will be called to receive the report of the commission, which will not, however, be ready for some months.

Taking into consideration the cost of this extra session, together with the heavy appropriations made for educational and other purposes, it may readily be seen that this is likely to be one of the most expensive sessions of the Florida Legislature on record.

In the matter of committee clerks both House and Senate have been unusually lavish, and old-timers tell me that no Legislature since that of 1889 has spent so much money in this direction.

Another peculiarity of this session has been the manner in which important measures have been put off until the last minute. Such bills as those relating to revenue, good roads, immigration and State insurance should have been taken up and disposed of long ago.

The anti-pass bill has passed its second reading in the House, but seems to be a somewhat superfluous measure, as its provisions can very easily be evaded by the issuing of mileage books or tickets; but this Legislature has clearly got it in for the "corporations."

What such legislation really means may readily be seen by the probable effect of some of these anti-telegraph bills, one of which is so drastic that it is learned that the Western Union will probably close over 70 of its smaller offices, while the Postal will make no further addition to its facilities in this State. It is the people who will, after all, suffer most.

Mr. Willis' bill providing for "assistance" to illiterate voters at the polls, went on the rocks in the Senate, partly on the ground that it would tend to nullify the Australian ballot system. On the other hand, the bill naming Philbrofen, near Jacksonville, as the site for the annual encampment of the State troops, has passed. The passage of this bill involves no expense to the State, the citizens of Jacksonville having pledged $6,000 toward the purchase price, while the United States Government will give $8,000 more, provided a rifle range is established, which will, of course, be done.

Mr. Knight of Citrus has introduced in the House a bill providing for a commission to examine the phosphate beds in the rivers of the State, with a view of fixing adequate royalties to be paid into the treasury. The State certainly needs the money all right.

Another bill of considerable importance is one in the House providing for the appointment of a State bank examiner at a salary of $2,000 and traveling expenses. It is, however, understood that the fees paid by the banks will more than counterbalance any expense involved.

Mr. Wartmann of Marion did a remarkable thing in the House last Monday, when he had a bill put through to third reading under suspension of the rules, and the bill was in itself remarkable, too, being nothing more nor less than a prohibition of the pernicious practice of "tipping," with a penalty of $200 fine, or six months' imprisonment. Ed will hereafter be known as the traveling man's friend.

The Senate has passed Mr. Faulkner's bill requiring men found intoxicated in dry counties to disclose the nature of the source from which the booze was derived; but the failure of the prohibition resolution to pass the House shows clearly enough that the Legislature is not going to extremes on the temperance question.

NOON IN GAINESVILLE.

What is Going on in Town When the Clock Strikes 12.

Noon, the dinner hour, the hour of comfort, of pleasure and relaxation—the one hour in the twenty-four which comes to men and women of every station with greater similarity than the hour of any other function in life.

Promptly as the clock strikes 12 in Gainesville the shadows on anxious faces turn to lines of good will, and if vilaneous hot bread, pies, spices and other indigestibles were excluded there would be no such words as dyspepsia or indigestion in the dictionary.

But the contrary is true, and medical science has to step in and aid the man or woman who has been too busy to pay proper attention to health.

The greatest step forward in medical discovery is Mi-o-na, which cures all stomach and digestive troubles.

In hundreds of the best homes in Gainesville and adjoining towns the handy little tablets, so pleasant to take, yet effective, have given quick and lasting relief in indigestion and that disagreeable full feeling after eating.

Mi-o-na acts very gently. Much of its wonderful power over indigestion comes from its uniform but sustaining action. The required stimulating and strengthening is given to the important organs of digestion without producing the slightest weakness or reaction.

A 50-cent box lasts for a couple of weeks and will ward off a dozen attacks of indigestion. J. W. McCollum gives a guarantee, absolute and unqualified, with every box of Mi-o-na to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

Alleged Embezzler Arrested.

Cartersville, Ga., May 28.—R. F. Garner, wanted in New Orleans on the charge of embezzling $36,700 from the Southern Pacific road, was arrested in Cartersville Friday afternoon at the residence of Will Bell. The capture was effected by Sheriff T. D. Tinsley, Chief of Police Henderson and a Pinkerton detective, Mr. Toble. The captured man admitted that he was Garner. Garner has been living near Cartersville for about two months, staying a part of the time at a cotton mill near here, and then at Rogers' station.

New High Records in Market.

Chicago, May 28.—New high records for the crop were made in the wheat market Monday, July selling at $1.03½ and December at $1.05½. September reached its high mark of $1.04½, made last week. Killing frosts were reported from parts of the wheat belt of Kansas and heavy frosts were general over Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa. Even with this news to hoist prices, the market was not especially active, and after the excited bulge at the opening, the market became rather quiet.

THREE NEW BUILDINGS FOR THE UNIVERSITY

They Will be Up-to-Date Structures of Stone and Brick.

MODELS OF ARCHITECTURE

Walter & Edwards, Supervising Architects, Will Immediately Begin Work on Plans, Which Will be Submitted to Board of Control for Approval.

With the opening of the University in the fall of 1908, the probabilities are very strong that the faculty and students will enjoy the convenience of three additional magnificent brick and stone buildings, since the magnificent sum of $150,000 has been generously appropriated by the Legislature, to be applied for new buildings at the University.

These buildings, like those first erected, will be no shoddy affairs, but first-class and modern in every respect, and structures that would be a credit to any university in the world. They will be college buildings, especially adapted for the purpose for which they are intended, and will add a great deal to the appearance and the convenience of Florida's pride—the new University of the State of Florida.

Those who have not visited the University grounds really cannot comprehend what a fine institution, and what a beautiful place it is now. The progress has been wonderful, as well as energetic, with the result that the University in its infancy in Gainesville is a great deal larger than the old East Florida Seminary ever was, in its most flourishing days, and as a matter of course, there is no comparison in the class of buildings. The grounds are beautifully laid out, the athletic field is modern, the experimental farm is as modern as can be found anywhere, considering the time it has been established, and altogether there is a general air of neatness and system.

W. A. Edwards, member of the firm of Walter & Edwards, Columbia, S. C., the supervising architects of the Board of Control who designed the present buildings, left Gainesville Tuesday for his home, after attending to some business matters here in connection with the University. Mr. Edwards states that he will immediately begin the preparation of plans for three of the new college buildings, which will be ready in the course of a few weeks for the inspection and approval of the Board of Control, as soon as possible after which the work of construction will begin. Under favorable conditions, there being no difficulty in securing labor and material, the three buildings should be completed within eight months. The material to be used will be brick and stone, the same as the present buildings.

This will not only mean a busy summer for Gainesville, but that at the end of 1908 the University of Florida will be grander and greater than ever, with many additional changes.

FEEL RUN DOWN?

Many people do in early spring. Perhaps it is the reaction from the winter manner of living. But, whatever the cause, it is an unpleasant condition, unfitting its victims for the activities of life—the proper enjoyment of life itself, in fact. A simple, altogether unobjectionable remedy, well calculated, according to physicians, to restore the lost tone and vitality to the rundown system is composed of ¼ oz. Fluid Extract Buchu, 1 oz. Bulso Mixture, ¼ oz. Fluid Extract Gentian Compound and 15 ozs. water. These ingredients are obtainable at small expense at any good drug store and may be combined by the pharmacist or at home, as desired. The dose is one tablespoonful three times a day, before meals. The preparation is said to be one of the best spring tonics known to medical men.

Big Convention Librarians.

Asheville, N. C., May 28.—The twenty-ninth annual meeting of the American Library association is being held at Asheville, N. C., from May 23 to 29. There are in attendance about 450 of its members, and practically every state in the union is represented, from Maine to Oregon, and from the Dominion of Canada to Florida. The southern delegation is the largest ever attending a meeting of the association, there being representatives from all of the southern states.

dream that the darkness, the miasmic vapor of the valley, is the glorious free air of the great I Am; and we dream that the hovels of our servitude are palaces fit for princes and sons of God. Would that some voice divine might speak to our dead faith and quicken it, both with the prophesy and the power of deeds and glory becoming our dignity and our God.

"To you young men, standing bright eyed and strong upon the portals of a mighty future, I commend the brief and pithy saying of a poet no longer read: 'He builds too low who builds beneath the stars.' Your education must shake off lethargy, for it is a principle of activity and power; and it must conquer fear, for it is the prestige of progress and of victory; it must save you from false pride and stubbornness, because it teaches you at once your frailty, your liability to err, as well as your powers and capacity for great achievement; and it must quicken you with a glad, grand faith that drives onward and upward toward the highest and the best, until at last you come to be strong and active, fearless and free; and, standing beneath the stars or in the noonday glare, may lift your heads to the heavens and draw from thence your power and consecration. Active, fearless, humble, without servility, and filled with the majesty of a triumphant faith, go forth conquering and to conquer."

Presentation of Medals.

After the baccalaureate address Honorable N. P. Bryan, president of the Board of Control, announced the winners in the various contests and presented the following medals:

A medal given by Senator Buckman for proficiency in engineering work, W. W. Gibbs.

A medal given by the Board of Control to the successful freshman or sophomore contestant in declamation, W. B. Martin.

A medal given by the Board of Control to the best junior orator, C. M. Fisher.

A medal given by the Board of Control to the best senior orator, T. Z. Cason.

Diplomas were then given to the graduates by President Sledd. The degree of Bachelor of Science was conferred upon the following men: M. L. Moreman, A. R. Nielsen, H. Gunter and C. A. Tompkins.

Mr. M. L. Moreman, valedictory and first honor man of the class, in a few well-chosen words bade good bye to the city, the University and the faculty. He paid a touching tribute to the great love and devotion to the students shown by Dr. Sledd.

Thus closed the second year of the life for the University of the State of Florida with happy omens for a prosperous future.

LIGHTNING DESTROYS MILL.

During Electric Storm Near Newnan, Residence is Also Demolished.

Newnan, Ga., May 28.—The mill of the Wahoo Manufacturing company at Sargents, 5 miles west of Newnan on the Central of Georgia railroad, was destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon, resulting in a loss of $60,000 or more.

During a storm about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, fire was discovered in several parts of the building at once and it is thought to have started by lightning.

With no means of checking the fire, the building was consumed in less than two hours.

The building was erected in 1869 by the late Judge J. W. Wilcoxon, and since 1889 has been used by the Wahoo Manufacturing company in the manufacture of cotton yarns and rope.

There is a small amount of insurance carried by the company on the mill.

During the electric storm a dwelling occupied by Miss Clara Brown, the station agent at Sargents, was struck by lightning and one end of the building was torn away.

$100,000 Fire in Rochester.

Rochester, N. Y., May 28.—Fire which did at least $100,000 damage broke out on the top floor of the building occupied by Oaks and Calhoun, in Main street, east, early Monday morning. Although the fire was confined to the buildings occupied by Oaks and Calhoun, and the top floor and the attic of the National Clothing store, several neighboring buildings from smoke and water were badly damaged. The chamber of commerce building was filled with water to a depth of four feet. The water and smoke damaged the Cook opera house.

HARGIS TRIAL BEGINS.

Great Interest in Case of Noted Kentucky Feud Leader.

Sandy Hook, Ky., May 28.—Monday marked the beginning of the trial of Judge James Hargis, charged with assisting in the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox, in Jackson in April, 1902.

This town of 119 inhabitants has doubled its population during the last two days with witnesses and persons interested in the trial. Judge James Hargis, accompanied by his attorneys and brothers, arrived at Sandy Hook Sunday. As soon as it was reported that Judge Hargis had arrived, the church was deserted, and groups of men gathered about him to see him walk and hear him talk.

So much has been said about the feud leader that he is looked on as a wonder in the mountain counties. Bill Britton accompanied by Captain William Jenkins, of the Lexington police force, also arrived Sunday. No members of the court have arrived nor has Attorney Floyd Byrd, the principal prosecutor. Every road leading to Sandy Hook is dotted with natives on their way to see Hargis, or to testify at the trial.

America Gets Important Contract.

New York, May 28.—In the face of the keenest competition on the part of the foremost Italian, German and other European concerns another important contract has been allotted to American electrical interests by the Italian government. The contract, valued at about $3,000,000, was obtained by the Westinghouse company and calls for the conversion from steam to electricity of the suburban state railway lines operating around Genoa.

Fatally Hurt in a Runaway.

Birmingham, Ala., May 28.—B. L. Atkins, a prominent liveryman of this city, was thrown from a buggy Sunday afternoon during a runaway and fatally injured. Two negroes were in the buggy with Mr. Atkins when the horse became frightened, dashing down in the middle of Twenty-fourth street. The buggy collided with another vehicle, throwing all three men to the pavement. The negroes fell on top of Atkins whose skull was fractured. The negroes were not injured.

The telegraph trust has advanced rates, is closing competing offices and reducing the number of employes. Of course, the telegraph companies declare they are not a trust, but only a "gentleman's agreement."

Steel Magnate Corey might give that unfortunate minister who married him a permanent job as a private chaplain. To all appearances, the reconstituted Corey family might furnish fruitful employment for at least one minister all the time.

At least two of the confidential clerks at the White House have nervous prostration and if the Ohio and New York Republican factional fights don't take a turn for the better the President will have to take a rest. Still Mr. Roosevelt declares he is not trying to dictate who shall succeed him.

Secretary Taft will swing around the circle beginning May 29, with the intention of corralling delegates to the Republican national convention. Meanwhile the affairs of the War Department, the Panama canal and other Government affairs which are under his jurisdiction, will be looked after by the understrappers of the department. This administration will become noted as attending more to partisan politics than to the business the people pay them to attend to.

An effort is being made to discredit the President in the West on account of the forest reserve policy that he inaugurated and which is keeping many of the big lumber, mining and coal companies from appropriating as much of the timber and mineral lands of the public domain as they would like. There is a studied attempt being made to array the small farmers and land owners, the small cattle men and the population of the cities against the forest reserve scheme on the plea that it cuts them out of timber and grazing rights and locks up the public land from legitimate use. Nothing could be farther from the truth. This country has wasted billions of dollars in its senseless destruction of the forests and the time has more than arrived for scientific conservation. This the Forest Service under the direction of the President is trying to give, and the use, though not the abuse, of the national forests is more assured to the public than ever before. The outcry against forest reservation is a campaign trick and a shallow one. It ought to deceive nobody, and it is not likely to do so when the real workings of the system are more fully explained by the Government agents who are now being sent into the field.

TRAINING FOR THE NEGRO.

The Washington Herald of recent date contains an enlightening interview with Charles Herron, a manufacturer of Chattanooga, Tenn., and a large employer of negro labor, on the industrial deficiencies of the latter race, and the most feassible remedy.

While conceding that the race, as a whole, is afflicted with a growing percentage of shiftless individuals, Mr. Herron speaks optimistically, as follows:

"The proportion of industrious negroes to the total number is nearly as large as among the white people. What the negro race needs is more discipline and training to do the actual work that is to be done. They should receive manual training in the schools. Many are acquiring property and are an asset in the industrial South, but the younger generation needs training, and should have it, no matter how much it costs."

Mr. Herron's views gather importance from the fact that he has been brought into close contact with the negro laborer and is intimately acquainted with his shortcomings.

What he says with reference to the advisability of manual training is in exact accord with the attitude often reiterated by The Constitution.

Had the well-meaning but misguided philanthropists of the North spent one-tenth of the money they have invested in colleges and universities for the few promising specimens of the "cultured negro," on the manual training of the great mass of the race, the South would not today, perhaps, be facing so serious shortage in labor. The negro himself, moreover, would be vastly the gainer. He would be equipped for the practical occupations for which he is eminently fitted.

The tendency of the "higher education," on the other hand, has been to turn out a few thousand dissatisfied negro teachers and preachers and professional men, for whom there is little room in the South, and to leave neglected the great bulk of the eleven millions of the race upon the welfare of which the present and the future of this strangely isolated people must depend.

It is not yet too late for the would-be friends of the negro to so revise their policies as to do justice to the whole race. Manual training schools will afford immeasurable aid in wiping out the mistakes of the past, and it is to be hoped that our friends to the North will not lose sight of the opportunity.—Atlanta Constitution.

It is a good sign for the awakening of public conscience that the Union Pacific railroad is returning to the Government several million dollars' worth of coal lands that it recently stole in the West. The company is deft at larcenies of this sort and did not annex the lands direct but through the medium of the Union Pacific Coal Company, which is a subsidiary company of the railroad. But in the overhauling of the land office and the unearthing of land frauds of various sorts, the company was caught with the goods and has turned them over to the Government without a murmer. Now comes another healthy indication. The Department of Justice announces that it will not take the restitution as exculpation for the deed, but will push the prosecution against the men who tried to steal the land, and desisted only when they were found out. A few more prosecutions of this sort and the big men of the corporations will begin to think that it almost pays to be honest.

JULY DESIGNER NOTES.

One cannot truthfully say that patriotism is dying out when the magazines, which are merely reflectors, show the national holidays as faithfully as they do. The Designer is up-to-date in this as in other respects in its July number. The sketch "How the Flag Came by the Name of 'Old Glory,'" is one of considerable historical interest. And a very graceful and well illustrated story, "The Colonel's Coming," also is appropriate for the war-holiday. To the wood-architect, or any man fond of making his house or parts of his house of rough-hewn trees, the article entitled "Building with Trees" will appeal strongly.

The little girls will find one of the prettiest flower plays they ever took part in, called "Fairy Godmothers' Botany Lesson." It is a composition of such true poetic fancy that the older folks will linger over it and wish they could take part, too.

As for the fashions in the July Designer, the addition of two successful and clever artists of the day to the staff of fashion illustrators, now makes the illustrations help in the making of the dress. The dressmakers' article gives full directions for the construction of a dainty summer costume. The traveling girl also will find directions for a practical and inexpensive outfit for boat and train use.

Ambassador Bryce asks, "Where are your poets?" Well, that depends. If he means the Alfred Austin brand, we are thankful to say we haven't any.

HEADACHE

"My father had been a sufferer from sick headache for the last twenty-five years and never found any relief until he began taking your Cascarets. Since he has begun taking Cascarets he has never had the headache. They have entirely cured him. Cascarets do what you recommend them to do. I will give you the privilege of using his name." E.M. WAITERS' OUTFITS.

And Other Outfits Designed For Men of Various Occupations.

The man who dined always in the same restaurant might suppose that the jackets worn by the waiters there were the same as those worn everywhere, that waiters' jackets were all alike, but as a matter of fact such jackets, with other equipment for waiters, are made in great variety for use in different places and seasons, and there are concerns that devote themselves solely to the manufacture of waiters' outfits, together with outfits for cooks, butchers, barkeepers, soda dispensers, barbers, dentists and surgeons.

One such establishment that issues an illustrated catalogue of its productions announces that its name is known in every public dining room and kitchen in this country and that it receives orders from Alaska, Canada, Cuba, the Hawaiian Islands and Mexico and that the United States government has adopted its jackets and aprons for government mess rooms.

Waiters' jackets and coats are made not only in many styles, but of various materials, and vary as to manner of finish and are lined and unlined. They range from a simple white duck jacket to the full dress coat and include coats and jackets appropriate for all engaged in the work, from head waiters and captains down, and are suitable for all sorts of places and occasions.

Of course there are provided waiters' neckwear in variety for various uses and other necessary items of personal equipment, as collars, and so on, and thus it is possible for any waiter to supply himself at one place with a complete outfit.

There are half a dozen styles of cooks' caps and as many varieties of cooks' jackets, including jackets single breasted and double breasted, and there are trousers made for cooks' use, and for cooks and for waiters there are made aprons in many styles and sizes and of various materials.

For barkeepers' use there are made coats in various styles of drill or of duck, some of these being made with loop buttons, and there are made barkeepers' waistcoats in various styles, some without and some with sleeves.

Of butchers' gowns and coats and aprons there are made various styles in a variety of materials. There is a variety of styles of coats designed for barbers, and there are coats specially designed for druggists, and coats for dentists, and specially designed gowns and suits made for the use of surgeons. The manufacture of all these special garments for the various trades and professions enumerated constitutes a business by itself.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

What Squirrels Eat.

Squirrels do not entirely subsist on nuts, as most people suppose. They are largely fruit eaters and occasionally work big havoc in the orchards in the fall of the year. They are not above stealing partridge eggs and on this account are not beloved by the sportsman. Even poultry, when they stray, as they often will, and lay eggs beyond the confines of the poultry yard, suffer from attacks of squirrels when the mother bird is away. In pine tree districts these little climbers are fond of splitting the pine cones and eating the seeds thereof. But above all things squirrels are fond of fungus. They will not have anything to do with the common or garden mushroom, but confidently devour the most yellow and poisonous looking toadstools that grow in damp woods and fields. They never store these, for they know well that fungi will not keep. They devour them greedily as they come to light and revisit the spot as soon as fresh spawn renews the fungus. There are, however, many kinds of toadstools that squirrels know to be poisonous, and these they will not touch.

Unscientific Good Health.

Both the medical officer and the surveyor of the Tarvin (Chester) rural district council condemned a cottage at Caldecott Green, near Farndon, for demolition as insanitary. But the tenant, an old man, appeared before the council and told a remarkable story "in stay of execution." He stated that he was seventy-three years of age and lived in the cottage with his wife and three children. For sixty years there had not been a case of illness in his family. His father and mother lived in the cottage before him; his father died at the age of ninety-six and the mother at eighty-nine. He did not think that there could be much wrong with the cottage in face of these facts. In reply to the clerk the old fellow said that personally he had never had a doctor, and the only time a medical man had been in his cottage was when his little son scalded his leg. Under the exceptional circumstances the council decided to adjourn the matter for further inquiries to be made.—London Globe.

Man's Character.

According to an old French saying, "A man's character is like his shadow, which sometimes follows and sometimes precedes him and which is occasionally longer, occasionally shorter, than he is."

Dickens and Schoolmasters.

Dickens, with something in his disposition peculiarly sympathetic toward children, was a bitter foe of any one—relative, teacher or official guardian—who tyrannized over them. A writer in the New York Post points out that he seems to take special delight in exposing the misdeeds of mercenary and cold hearted pedagogues. "When one's notice," says the Post, "is first directed to the attention the novelist gave to schools and their methods, it is interesting to try to recall the number mentioned. Six come to mind instantly—Dotheboys Hall, Dr. Blimber's, David Copperfield's two schools—Dr. Strong's and Mr. Creakle's—the Gradgrind school and Bradley Headstone's in 'Our Mutual Friend.' But even the most devoted reader of Dickens is amazed upon special investigation to discover the sum total of twenty-eight. There is not a phase of education that he does not touch upon, and wrong methods are revealed and commented upon in tones so caustic and with reason so unerring that better conditions were the natural result."

Wooden Anchors.

The Basques, a strange race intermediate between French and Spaniards, have for all time been great fishermen, and some of their craft and seagoing gear are totally different from any other known types. Perhaps the most remarkable relic of bygone civilizations is the primitive wooden anchor still in use among them and to be seen in the fishing settlements round Biarritz, Guethary or St. Jean de Luz. These wooden anchors are in all probability of the identical type in use among the Phoenicians twenty centuries ago. The wooden anchor is rough hewn out of three branches, so fastened to a crossbar, also of wood, as to inclose a great stone of twenty or thirty pounds weight. Here is a cheap but effectual anchor for comparatively light boats. It can be made on the spot, and it entails little loss if, in a sudden squall, it has to be left imbedded in the rocks.

Relief from Rheumatic Pains.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapaciated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlan's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by all druggists.

Expensive Modesty.

"What's the matter, old man? You look sad."

"I am. I just asked Farnsworth to lend me $5."

"And I suppose he said he didn't have that much in the world."

"No. He had to get a ten dollar bill changed in order to let me have what I had asked for."

Points of View.

"I didn't notice particularly," said his wife, "but the light from it fell on the Jones pew, and it made her complexion a fright."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Keenly So.

"Are you interested in the vital issues of the hour?"

"Intensely. Say, can you lend me 50 cents to get some lunch?"—Baltimore American.

Stop Grumbling.

If you suffer from Rheumatism or pains, for Ballard's Snow Liniment will bring quick relief. It is a sure cure for Sprains, Rheumatism, Contracted Muscles and all pains—and within the reach of all. GIGANTIC MERGER.

More Than a Thousand Millions of Capital.

Chicago, May 28.—A dispatch from Washington to the Inter-Ocean says: While the eyes of the whole country have been centered on E. H. Harriman as the master manipulator of the railroad world, a greater and more extensive combination of railroad interests have been in process of perfection until now the plans ar ematured for the public declaration of this gigantic merger.

More than a thousand millions of capital are involved and the mileage of the new system will extend practically from the most northern part of the Atlantic coast to the gulf ports, with the nework of tracks gridironing New England, the east and middle west, and tapping the greatest freight producing territory in the world.

This colossal railroad, when perfected, will be known as the Greater Pennsylvania system. It will embrace practically all the railroad mileage in New England, together with the present Pennsylvania lines east and west of Pittsburg, through connections to New Orleans and Mobile to the gulf.

Instead of projecting a trans-continental line from ocean to ocean, the keystone of the new system will be the Panama canal. Traversiong as it does the most congested section of the United States and reaching every great industrial and manufacturing center east of the Mississippi, it will furnish an outlet to the products of this cast section to the ports of the Atlantic north of the Potomac and also give them a direct route to the Orient via the gulf and the new isthmian canal when completed.

Charles S. Mellen is credited with being the master mind that conceived this vast project, although it is understood that this consolidation was under consideration before the death of A. J. Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Good Words for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips, of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to tell you that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl, Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Lodgings of Deputies Searched.

St. Petersburg, May 28.—Searches of the lodgings of social democratic deputies are now of almost daily occurrence here. Officials of the secret police Sunday visited the apartments of Deputy Prikhodko, constitutional democrat of Tchernigoff, and found documents showing that a railroad men's organization is making preparations for another general transportation strike.

Goes Aground in Fog.

Harbor Beach, Mich., May 28—The life-saving station here received notice Monday that the wooden steamer B. F. Bielman, and the barge McLeachlan, bound from Escanaba to Lake Erie, loaded with ore, went hard aground in a dense fog at Port Austin at 2 o'clock in the morning. It is understood the crews were taken off by the Port Austin life savers. There is a heavy sea running.

Carl Schurz Memorial Fund.

New York, May 28.—Subscriptions to the Carl Schurz memorial fund received by Isaac N. Seligman, treasurer, now amount to $72,576.01. In sending his check for $200, Grover Cleveland wrote: "I deem it a privilege to contribute to the cause. I enclose a check for an amount which would be much larger if my means were in keeping with my desire to aid a project so deserving."

Sanguinary Rebellion.

Swatow, Province of Kwawtung, China, May 28.—A rebellion has broken out at Wong Kong in the Upin district of the Chin Chu prefecture. All the civil and military officers at Wong Kong have been assassinated and their Yemens burned.

Sore Nipples.

Any mother who has had experience with this distressing ailment will be pleased to know that a cure may be effected by applying Chamberlain's Salve as soon as the child is done nursing. Wipe it off with a soft cloth before allowing the babe to nurse. Many trained nurses use this salve with best results. For sale by all druggists.

IF WATER NEVER FROZE.

There Would Be Several Startling Changes in the World.

The whole economy of nature would undergo a startling change if water never froze. The world's climates would be revolutionized. The icebound polar seas would cease to exercise their chilling influences, and consequently the currents of the ocean might either cease or be turned aside in different directions.

Thus the gulf stream would seek other shores than those of Britain, and the climate there might be subject to the extremes of heat and cold noticeable in other countries of the same latitude. The icebound rivers of the north, notably those of Russia and Siberia, would be open for navigation, and Russia's activity as a sea power and a commercial nation might alter the whole world of commerce.

Canada would become another country altogether. An immense tract of land would be available for cultivating hardy plants, and Greenland might be what its name indicates. The absence of icebergs off the coast of Newfoundland and Iceland would result in a much warmer climate in those islands, where now the crops often fail.

Ice, too, plays an important part in the economy of nature. Thus, if water never froze, snow, hail and hoarfrost would cease. The loosening of soils and the disintegration of rocks by the frost and many other now vital effects would be lost—in short, the absence of ice would be on the one hand an incalculable disaster, on the other hand a great boon.—London Globe.

If You Don't

Succeed the first time use Herbine and you will get instant relief. The greatest liver regulator. A positive cure for Constipation, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and all liver complaints. Mr. C—. of Emory, Texas, writes: "My wife has been using Herbine for herself and children for five years. It is a sure cure for constipation and malaria fever, which is substantiated by what it has done for my family." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Late and Early Easters.

The earliest date on which Easter can fall is March 22. The moon must then be full on March 21, and that date must be Saturday. Such a combination of circumstances is extremely rare. Easter Sunday has fallen as early as March 22 in 1693, in 1761 and in 1817, and it will fall on March 22 again in 1990, 2076 and 2144. The latest date on which Easter can fall is April 25. That happened in 1666, in 1734 and in 1886. It will happen again in 1943.

Indigestion.

With its companions, heart burn, flatulence, torpidity of the liver, constipation, palpitation of the heart, poor blood, headache and other nervous symptoms, sallow skin, foul tongue, offensive breath and a legion of other ailments, is at once the most widespread and destructive malady among the American people. The Herbine treatment will cure all these troubles. 50c bottle. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

THE POCKET SAVINGS BANK EPIDEMIC RAGES FIERCELY

.....IN GAINESVILLE.....

Beneficent epidemics are scarce, but such a one has struck Gainesville, and people of every station and occupation have the fever.

It is most interesting and instructive to study the constantly changing line of applicants for Pocket Banks as it files through The Sun's business office. There is the mother, bringing her daughter with her and securing a bank for the girl, another for herself, and inquiring anxiously whether she may have another for the boy who is at work. She receives it promptly.

Boys come—some are steady, serious-faced chaps who have begun to think on their own account, and who ask questions about the operation of the scheme which show the results of rubbing up against the world.

Then the High School girls and boys, gay and active, while the workman and business man "slip in" during the noon hour to get a bank for the boy or girl at home, after asking one or two leading questions to make sure there is no joke about the 25 cents.

.....THE PLAN IN OUTLINE.....

A HANDSOME NICKEL POCKET SAVINGS BANK and an order on

PHIFER BROS., BANKERS

Good for an additional 25 cents when a deposit of one dollar or more in cash is made, will be given to everyone who avail themselves of this opportunity. Make an investigation and you will never regret it.

HOME IS APPRECIATIVE.

Mrs. Alice Broughton Gratefully Acknowledges Donation.

The National Odd Fellows' Sanitarium, of which Mrs. Alice E. Broughton is the superintendent, is one of the most deserving institutions in the country, as the resort harbors and cares for invalids on the lines of a regular hospital, the Gainesville and Alachua County Hospital Association also using the building.

Mrs. Broughton has received a donation of $3.75 from the Gainesville Country Club, of which W. E. Cadwallader is treasurer, and desires publicly to express her thanks as superintendent.

Complimented by Edison.

Earle Kelley of this city, although yet a very young man, probably enjoys the distinction of being the only person in Gainesville, regardless of age or profession, who holds in his possession a personal letter from Thos. A. Edison, the world-renowned inventor and electrician.

Mr. Kelley, who is a son of County Superintendent Dr. J. L. Kelley, is a student of the Gainesville Senior High School, and at the commencement exercises of this school last week, delivered an oration on Edison and his wonderful achievements. Mr. Edison secured a copy of this oration, and its author was surprised, though gratified, to receive from the great inventor a personal letter of compliments upon the same.

Mr. E. L. Snowden Dead.

The Lake City correspondent of The Times-Union announces the death of E. L. Snowden, one of Lake City's most prominent citizens, which occurred at his home Friday night of Bright's disease.

Deceased was a native of Eutawville, N. C., and was fifty-six years of age at the time of his death. He is well known in Gainesville, having resided here several years ago. The news of his demise will be received by his old friends here with regret.

Attention, Public.

There will be a joint meeting of the Gainesville Board of Trade and the citizens of Gainesville at the council chamber at 10 o'clock, on May 30, who will confer with representatives of the railroads entering the city in regard to location of the proposed union station. A full attendance of everyone interested is requested and desired. B. F. HAMPTON, Sec.

P. M. Oliver and Bev. Beville returned Monday from a most novel trip, being a trip overland through Mayo, Perry, Tallahassee and other points to old St. Marks and Newport, where they visited relatives of Mr. Oliver, and were hospitably entertained. They spent the time hunting and fishing in the vicinity of the last-named place, and report big luck. Mr. Oliver has many thrilling and interesting stories to relate of their adventures. Messrs. Oliver and Beville returned overland, being absent, altogether, about three weeks.

F. A. Warner, special representative of The Florida Agriculturist, Jacksonville, who has been here for the past few days working on a special edition of his excellent journal for Gainesville with great success, returned yesterday to Jacksonville. The Agriculturist is one of the best papers of its kind in the South, and has an extensive outside subscription. This special Gainesville number is destined to prove of great benefit to the city and community.

Wanted—A lumber inspector capable of taking charge of crew of hands at sawmill. Also want a competent bookkeeper and commissary man. Drinking men nor cigarette smokers need not apply. W. B. Phifer & Co., at New York Racket.

HONOR TO DR. YOCUM.

Informal Reception Was Tendered Him in Ocala.

Friday afternoon Mrs. William T. Gary gave a small, informal reception from 5 to 6 o'clock for her father, Dr. W. F. Yocum of Gainesville. Mrs. Gary had as her guests the graduating class, the school teachers and quite a number of her lady and gentleman friends. The affair was entirely informal and it was a delightful pleasure to Mrs. Gary's friends to meet her father in so pleasant a manner. Dr. Yocum is a charming gentleman of the old school and is one of the best loved educators in the State. He is popular with all who know him and he made many pleasant acquaintances Friday afternoon.

Receiving with Mrs. Gary and Dr. Yocum were Mr. Gary and his mother, Mrs. Fannie R. Gray, and Mrs. B. A. Weathers, and helping the hostess in other ways were Miss Weathers, Mrs. Chace, Mrs. Helvenston, Miss Carrie Miller and the graduates. The punch was served by the young ladies of the graduating class and the young men of the class passed the ice cream and cake, and proved as good in this line as they were in their studies.

During the afternoon several of the graduates rendered music, as did also several of the other guests.

The friends of Mrs. Gary spent a very enjoyable hour at her attractive little home and her little reception was thoroughly charming.—Ocala Banner, 25th.

Miss Sadler Graduates.

It will be pleasing information to the numerous friends of Miss Belle Sadler, who recently returned from Statesville, N. C., where she attended the Statesville Female College, that the young lady finished her studies with the term just closed, graduating with high honors in elocution, English literature and history.

Miss Sadler deserves and has the congratulations of her friends everywhere, all of whom will be proud of her for this high distinction.

SACRED CONCERT TONIGHT.

A Rare Treat is In Store for Lovers of High-Class Music.

Last night the final rehearsal for this evening at Holy Trinity church was well attended and showed the large chorus to be well in hand and thoroughly acquainted with their work. The results were indeed pleasing, and it may safely be said that the program tonight will be most attractive

The advance sale of ticket programs is reported good, and it is to be hoped that our young people may be encouraged to continue in similar high-class work.

Gainesville can have good music; this chorus at rehearsals has proven it, and the public may judge tonight of the future possibilities of choral work in our city.

The ticket programs, which are on sale at Millers', are rather unique, the programs themselves being admissions to the concert.

The festival will begin at 8 o'clock, and it is hoped that all will be in their seats by this hour.

To Our Friends and Patrons.

Since making our announcement that we would close our banking business to take effect on June 15th, 1907, we have sold our building, fixtures and vaults to W. R. Thomas, G. K. Broome, H. F. Dutton, C. W. Chase, J. H. Vidal, S. J. Thomas and J. B. Padgett, well-known business men in this city and county, who will organize a banking company to be conducted in this building. In order that there may be no discontinuance of the banking business in this building, we have decided to continue our business until the organization of the new company and we respectively ask our friends and patrons who have so kindly done business with us to continue their business with the new firm. It will be managed by wise and conservative business men whom we have known in a business way for years, and we bespeak for them a liberal patronage. As advised in our circular letter of the 18th, all checks will be paid without interruption, and certificates of deposits redeemed, with interest, on presentation.

A Champion Cucumber.

It may seem difficult to believe, but there is on exhibition at the store of S. F. Brooks a cucumber measuring forty inches.

This cucumber comes only "one in a patch," and was grown by a Mr. Mixon, in the vicinity of the English Colony. Mr. Mixon has a fine field of cucumbers, but no other so large as this.
